From The Editor

This Buyers Guide for Water and Renewable Energy Companies highlights the leading Egyptian companies in the water and renewable energy sectors. This vital sector is witnessing rapid growth in Egypt, driven by the ambitious national vision to achieve sustainable development and preserve our natural resources.

In recent years, we have witnessed great efforts by Egyptian companies to adopt the latest technologies and innovations in the fields of water treatment, water desalination, solar energy, wind energy, and other renewable energy sources. These companies have not only contributed to providing sustainable solutions to water and energy challenges but have also become a role model for the entire region.

Among these prominent players are Veolia and Xylem, two global companies contributing significantly to water treatment and resource improvement in the region and Al Andalus for Engineering Industries–BIMEX, which specializes mainly in water valves, pipes, and water hammer protection systems; and WETCO, a pioneering water treatment company and one of the dominant players in providing distinguished services and bringing premium quality products from all over the world.

Maskoub International Company focuses on providing technical support, consulting, design, supply, and installation of all types of water treatment and desalination plants.

Companies such as Siemens, Endress+Hauser Group, Schneider Electric, and ABB is bringing cutting-edge automation, energy efficiency, and industrial solutions to the sector, while Danfoss is known for its expertise in sustainable energy technologies.

Specialized companies such as Mecana AC, Falcon Egypt WTS, TSC, and IWTE provide specialized expertise in water treatment technologies and chemical solutions.
